Entertainments

ANOTHER BRILLIANT AFFAIR GIVEN BY FRATERNITY MEN

Another brilliant affair will be given at the Memphis Country club on Friday evening, when the members of the Kappa Sigma fraternity will be hosts at a most enjoyable dancing party. The ballroom has been made most attractive with shaded lights and an artistic arrangement of palms and other greenery, the special feature of note being the beautiful Kappa Sigma emblem, which Mr. Marion Boyd, who has charge of the arrangements, had shipped from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville, Tenn., where it adorns the fraternity house.

Hostesses of white, red and green ribbons will designate the fraternity members, who will make the evening one of unusual pleasure for their guests. Several novelty carnival features will be introduced, adding much to the guests' enjoyment of the occasion.

Throughout the evening refreshing punch and sandwiches will be served to the guests, about 200 of whom are so fortunate as to be numbered among those invited.

Among the chaperons for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Garner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elgin and Dr. and Mrs. A. Barnett.

MR. AND MRS. SAMFELD

MONDAY, MISS GOLDBERG of Shreveport, La., was the charming hostess at a delightful affair on Thursday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Samfeld complimented her with a dancing party at the Casino in downtown Memphis. During the evening delicious punch and ice cream, carrying out an orchid color motif, were served from a prettily decorated table and an excellent orchestra furnished music for the dancing in which about 75 guests participated.

Mrs. Samfeld was handsomely gowned for the evening in black lace, while Miss Goldberg was attractively gowned in golden yellow tulle with butterfly draperies of orchid tulle, with which she wore a corsage bouquet of roses and orchids.

THAT BAY WINDOW.

In almost every home there are bay windows that perplex the home decorator. There is the round bay window, for example, which requires something more than glass curtains, and yet, because of the closeness of the window, they should not be too heavy. There are two curved rods fitted around the top of the shades, one for the glass curtains and the other for the heavier hanging. On the inner one hang net or fine muslin curtains, being careful not to have fulness enough to produce a bulge effect. A narrow width of over-drapery, connected by a straight gathered or pleated valance, should hang as each end, stopping at the sill. A window seat may be upholstered in the over-drapery material.

Summer bays are more difficult. Unless the projecting space is large enough to admit heavy hangings gracefully, they should not be attempted at the individual window. A better plan is to frame the opening of the bay with a single pair of draperies, connected by a valance, just as though it were a wide door opening. A group window force effect, best treated—September Good Housekeeping.
